The benefits of maca are also very impressive in endocrine balance and this root botanical has been used for more than 10,000 years with few, if any, known adverse effects:

- It aids in normalising the hormonal secretions of the pituitary, pancreas and adrenals;
- It can enhance energy and endurance;
- It can help with depression in men and women;
- It aids the thyroids, testes, ovaries and pancreas to stay in balance

Korean & American Ginseng are used on a wide scale as tonic for longevity. Ginseng is known to increase energy levels and assist in the balance of the menstrual cycle, reducing premenstrual symptoms and the hot flashes associated with the menopause.

Muira Puama has a long history of being used to treat the nervous system, sexual dysfunction and helping to ease menstrual irregularities.

Ginkgo Biloba contains active properties which promote vasodilation and improve the rate of blood flow through capillaries. Studies have also found that due to the promotion of vasodilation, ginkgo biloba can help men suffering from impotence caused by erectile dysfunction.

Suggested Use: 2 capsules twice daily.

Contraindications: L'Arginine should not be taken by those with the herpes simplex virus or those diagnosed with schizophrenia.
